A number of games have appeared recently by one A. W. Fox. No one seems to really know who A. W. Fox is, although it is claimed he is but 17 years old. Many believe he is a mythical personage, but his games are excellent in strategy. We append an example:

Yachting Party.

W. G. Irwin gave a yachting party to Pearl Harbor to a number of friends yesterday. The trip down was made in the yacht Helene shortly before 10 o'clock. The run was made in good time. Inside the harbor, a cruise about the lanch was made. Then came a run to Aiea on the train and luncheon was served at that point. From there, the party drove to the home of Manager Low on the Honolulu plantation. The return to town was made on the train.

The following were Mr. Irwin's guests:

Captain Merry, Captain White and

Captain Pond of the Navy; Theodore Worres, the artist; Dr. Cofer, of the Quarantine Service, and Fred Whitney, who assisted the host in the entertainment of the guests.

JILTED LOVER HUGHES HAS HIS REVENGE ON MRS. TEVIS

Denver, Sept. 2.—Gerald Hughes, son of C. J. Hughes, Jr., has purchased the home of the Baxters out of revenge. Mrs. Cornelia Baxter Tevis jilted him for the millionaire California, Hugh Tevis, who died in Japan just one month after the wedding.

Society people in Denver who knew all about the love affair between young Hughes and the then Miss Cornelia Baxter said the jilting was all because High Tevis was supposed to be several times as rich as the Baxters, while the amount of J. C. Hughes' fortune was not known.

Of late it has transpired that C. J.
Hughes, Jr., instead of being worth only a paltry half million, increased his fortune a million and a half or more last year in mining investments.
Several years ago the Baxter family came from Cheyenne and acquired the handsome house adjoining the Hughes brown stone mansion. Cornelia was a mere girl in years then and wore short dresses. She and Gerald Hughes were thrown into each other's company a great deal. The announcement of their engagement was received with applause by society. Then came the jilting, the marriage to Tevis and the death of the millionaire.

Now Gerald Hughes has bought the Denver home of his former sweetheart and it is for sale to anyone except the Baxters at the price paid for it recently by the young lawyer. The Baxters are leaving Denver. It is openly said, because of its social frigidity, due to the silent boycott of Gerald Hughes and his many warm friends. But it is equally certain that former Governor Baxter would never have sold his beautiful home if he had known that Gerald Hughes was the purchaser.

When he transferred it to Tyson Dines last week for a consideration of $40,000, he supposed he had sold it to himself. He merely bought it for —now that Dines had a commission from young Gerald Hughes, backed up with $100,000 in cash, to buy the Baxter home at any price. The daily sight of the Baxters so close to his own home was unpleasant to him. He determined to buy the Baxter home to get rid of the family. He has a fortune of his own, and he placed $100, 000 of it in the hands of the Porter Investment Company to use as needed for the purchase of the Baxter family's home. He did not buy it for any investment, and certainly not to live in himself. He merely bought it because the Baxters' home was too close to his own. Society is murmuring audibly that the Baxters missed the mark wide.

tion which deserves full public confidence."

FIGHT FOR THE CABLE WITH NEW VIGOR

Washington, Sept. 2.—A proposition that will come before the new Congress with additional force, is the question of a Pacific cable. Though Hawaii has been annexed for three years it is still unconnected by cable and it takes about a week for the Washington authorities to learn what has happened in the islands. This seriously interferes with the Government at Washington keeping in close touch with Hawaiian affairs and is conducive to misunderstandings.

Then an immense sum of money, notwithstanding present economies by the War Department, is being expended for tolls on messages to the Philippines. Our messages to and from Manila have to go over foreign wires and are subject to delay and serious interruption. In the event of hostilities with any powerful nation this would be a serious embarrassment.
Then it is argued that a cable connecting the United States with Japan—and it would be easy to extend the Philippine cable from Manila to Japan—would be of great importance in increasing our trade with the bright little men of the Japanese archipelago.

There is no questioning the fact that a great majority of the members of both houses favor the construction of a Pacific cable, but they have not been able to agree whether it shall be under direct government ownership and control or built by a subsidized company.
It is believed that it will be easier to settle these differences of opinion in the next Congress. At any rate, a determined effort will be made to secure legislation that will insure the beginning of the laying of the much needed cable.

ORIGINAL DOOLEY DYING

Chicago, Sept. 2.—James McGarry, the old-time saloon-keeper of Chicago and the original of "Mr. Dooley of Archie Road," made famous by Finley Peter Dunne, is seriously ill at the West Side Hospital, to which he was taken last Saturday. He is suffering from stomach trouble and a complication of other ailments. His friends believe that his death is not far off. Tonight he was slightly delirious, and his memory is somewhat impaired. At times he failed to recognize old friends who called to see him.
For thirty-five years James McGarry was one of the best-known saloon-keepers in the city. In the little back room of McGarry's saloon Dunne got his inspiration for the new celebrated Dooley stories.
